Central Region Program Highlights

- Virtual Program Support
- Partnership with UofT (Head-stART) – Active Living
- Supporting Safe Spaces for youth - VRP
- Be.Build.Brand - CED
- Re-Imagining Space - Engagement

Virtual Program Support Chromebooks Donation

More TCHC tenants will be able to explore learning opportunities online, aided by a generous donation from Telus Corporation and Samsung Canada.

The donation was arranged by the City of Toronto's Strategic Partnerships Division.

This donation will be used to promote learning and engage youth that will take part in different programs offered by TCHC

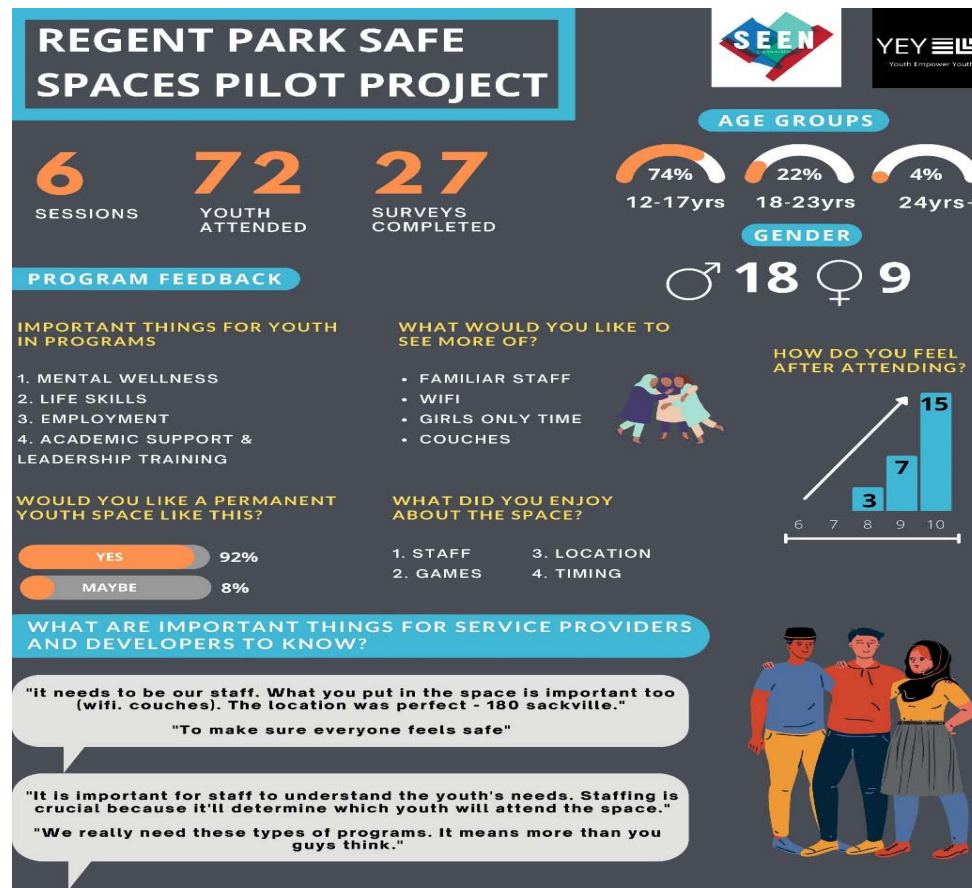

Head-stART

Head-stART is a free six-week virtual arts program for youth ages 13 to 18 living in Toronto Community Housing. The program objectives are:

- To foster an appreciation for all forms of art, including photography, painting, music, dance, written/spoken word
- To express themselves through art-based activities, games and challenges
- Led by trained staff from Toronto Community Housing and facilitators from Hart House at the University of Toronto (U of T)

Safe Spaces for Youth

Be.Build.Brand (B3) Winner – Rayya Brown

Moss Park Basketball Court Revival

Project Impact: strengthening of internal and external working relationships between its stakeholders.

TCHC is working closely with the City of Toronto, KickBack as a local organization in the community and a potential major corporate partner.

Youth hired through the Youthworx program are also providing support as part of the tenant engagement and consultation processes in the community.
